

A Pit bull decided he would battle a Porcupine in back of his house in Southern California.

But being both brave and STUPID, he ultimately learned the hard way that he can't always win. No matter how tough you are.

A vet sedated the dog, and then removed a total of 1,347 quills. The dog survived, and hopefully learned a valuable lesson. Obviously, all brawn and no brain! Now tell me you had a bad day!!

